

Customer Case Study

Lucite International

Lucite International (LI) is a global leader in the design, development and manufacture of acrylic-based products and has commissioned Thornhill for its plate pack changes and refurbishment for 20 years.

At its Billingham site, Gary Noble, the Cyanides Local Work Manager, calls on Thornhill's specialist team on a regular basis because he knows he can rely on their in-depth training and knowledge to work appropriately in this high hazard chemical environment.

Gary says: "Working with Thornhill is always a positive experience Their repair team is always available 24/7 so they are there when needed to look after the plate packs coolers, which are an essential element of our manufacturing process."

Over its many years working with LI, Thornhill has identified the heat exchanger plates as high-risk units which are critical to their operation and keeps stocks of them at their Yorkshire headquarters so that they can be supplied and installed within 24 hours to keep LI's business functioning.
